Mayor Answers Boards' Move To Oppose Annexation Plan

Circleville Mayor Richard Penn today claimed that transfer of school territory is accomplished by the State Board of Education, not by municipal annexation.

The mayor's comments were the result of yesterday's action by the Pickaway County and Logan Elm Boards of education requesting the Board of County Commissioners not to approve the annexation of land south of Circleville.

Both of the school board resolutions were placed on file by the Commission. A public hearing on the annexation question is scheduled Nov. 27 in the county solons' office.

Penn, in his reply to the resolutions presented to the Commission, asserted that the Pickaway County and Logan Elm Boards "have no valid reasons for opposing the proposed annexation." Their opposition, he said, is based on a mere assumption on their part that annexation means transfer of school territory, which is not the case.

HE EMPHASIZED his remarks by saying that transfer of school territory, as related to the annexation question here, is accomplished by the State Board of Education, not as an automatic procedure resulting from municipal annexation.

Mayor Penn, who placed the original annexation petition before the County Commission on July 30 of this year, offered a request that the County and Logan Elm Board members read Section 3311.06 of the Ohio Revised Code which deals with the problem at hand. He quoted the section, in part, which reads:

"When the territory so annexed to a city or village comprises part but not all of the territory of a school district, the said territory shall become part of the city school district or the school district of which the village is a part only upon approval by the State Board of Education."

"In opposing the annexation without qualification," the mayor continued, "the boards are pretending that all land in the proposed annexation is within the Logan Elm School District." He further noted that the General Electric plant, houses on Renick Ave., plus about 373-53 acres included in the annexation proposal already are part of the Circleville City School District.

George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, indicated today that both the County and Logan Elm school boards are aware of section 3311.06 of the Revised Code.

However, he said he is under the impression that the Boards are seeking to oppose the annexation in its first phase — when it goes before the County Commission for approval or disapproval — not in the second phase when the transfer of school territory question will arise.

HE SAID he is assured members of the two boards are aware that the State Board of Education has the approving authority when part, but not all, of a school territory is being considered for transfer.

Burger Resigns Top Post at Logan Elm

John Henn Named Coordinator by District Board

Carl S. Burger, executive head of the Logan Elm School District since 1959, has resigned his post.

Burger tendered his resignation to the district school board last night. The board voted to accept.

The board immediately named John Henn, Logan Elm High School principal, as coordinator for the school district. The position left vacant by Burger's resignation will not be filled until the present school term has been completed, according to George McDowell, superintendent of county schools.

Burger told the board that he wished to resign in order to accept a similar post in the Columbus Grove school system in Putnam County. He noted that the new position would mean an increase in salary. He was the first executive head of the Logan Elm district.

THE RESIGNATION has necessitated a rescheduling of classroom assignments. A new teacher will be hired, McDowell said.

Henn has been employed as Logan Elm high school principal since 1960. Prior to that he was principal of the Fairfield Elementary and Junior High School in the Mt. Sterling school system.

The new coordinator is a graduate of Defiance College, holding a BS degree in education. He attended Dayton University and received his masters degree in education from Bowling Green State University.

In other Logan Elm school board action, Mrs. Carl Longo, 220 Meadow Drive, was hired to teach a combined first and second grade class at Saltcreek Twp. Elementary School.

The first grade there has 43 students and the second has 40. Mrs. Longo will instruct 27 students, 15 from the first grade and 12 from the second.

McDowell noted that the crowded situation in both grades at Saltcreek made the employment of an extra teacher necessary.

Mrs. Longo is a graduate of the University of Denver in Colorado. She taught in the Denver school system for over three years. She also has one year's experience at Walnut Twp.

Congress' Pace Slows Nearly To Full Halt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress' snail-pace drive for adjournment slowed down today to almost a complete halt.

There was no business at all on the House docket because of the death of one of its members, Rep. Clem Miller, California Democrat killed in an airplane mishap.

Neither was there anything of consequence on the calendar of the Senate, which sent the annual foreign aid appropriation bill to the President Monday.

There was a possibility that the Senate might seize upon a relatively minor House-passed bill as the vehicle for a four-month extension of unemployment compensation payments to workers who have used up their benefits. The House Ways and Means Committee has refused to approve a separate bill authorizing the extension.

No progress was in sight for several appropriation bills which must be acted on before adjournment, nor was there any sign of White House action on another bill holding up the go-home signal. It calls for a tax break for self-employed people who set up their own retirement programs. The bill becomes law at midnight Wednesday night if President Kennedy does not act on it.

If he should veto the measure, backers of the bill hope to try to override the veto or attach the pension program as a rider to a $500 million supplemental money bill which has been stalled in the Senate. As things now stand, the Senate won't act on the supplemental bill before Friday at the earliest.

The House Rules Committee today called a huddle to try to budget a $4 billion measure authorizing hundreds of water control projects which must be financed in future years. The bill has passed both houses in widely different form and can't reach a compromise committee without approval of the Rules group and the House itself.

When Congress will finally quit is a subject of varying guesses. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he was "reconciled to staying here indefinitely."

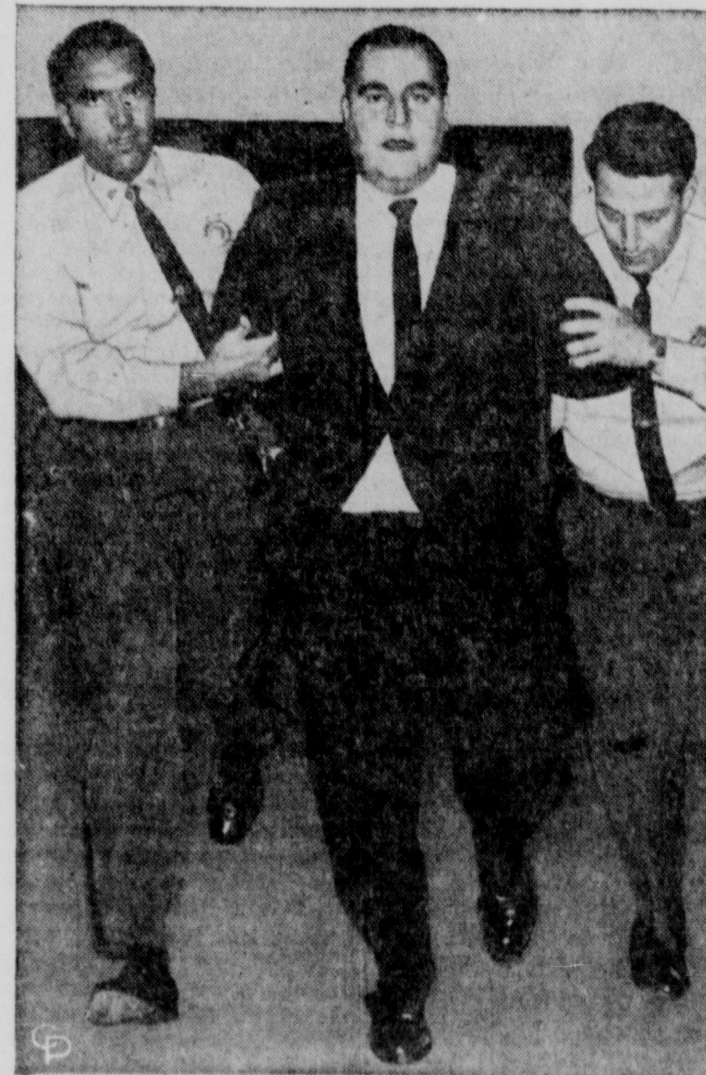

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., key figure in a battle over the annual Agriculture Department money bill, told newsmen he was willing "to stay here until December 23" if necessary.

Distiller Is Sent New State Query

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A telegram requesting the voluntary appearance in Ohio of Chicago distiller Joseph H. Makler was sent today by Atty. Gen. McElroy.

McElroy's office said it has been trying to reach Makler Sept. 27 when the distiller's letter to the Ohio Liquor Department, claiming influence peddling in the listing of whisky brands, was made public.

The telegram informed Makler that McElroy's office was sending a certificate ordering him to be available for testimony in Ohio to Cook County (Ill.) Superior Judge Harold G. Ward.

West Plans Only Protest On Latest Incident at Wall

BERLIN (AP) — The Western Allies apparently have decided to do nothing except protest the refusal of East German guards to let a British army ambulance go to the aid of a man shot just over the Berlin wall. The Soviets refused to accept the protest Monday.

The East German action was clearly a blow to Western prestige in Berlin.

"Just one more slice off the Berlin salami," said one West Berliner.

Western officials were reluctant to predict what further action might be taken. From their remarks, it seemed unlikely that anything would be done.

Some acknowledged that the East Germans could cite their successful blocking of the ambulance Saturday as a precedent for stopping other Western military traffic in East Berlin. But they pointed out that this had not happened yet.

They also pointed out that the East Germans could halt all Western traffic unless the Allies gave it armed escort. The Allies did that with some military vehicles last October when the East Germans began stopping Allied cars. The East Germans backed down after the Russians and the Americans each rushed tanks up to the wall.

Mayor Willy Brandt's Socialist party said Soviet vehicles should be banned from West Berlin in retaliation for the East German action.

There was no indication, however, of any such Allied plans. One reason apparently was reluctance to rock the boat while talks on Berlin were still in progress in New York.

The Allies, in their protest, charged that interference with the ambulance was a violation of their war-worn occupation rights in all

Castro Aide's Strategy Still Not Disclosed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. delegates look for more fireworks over Cuba following President Osvaldo Dorticos Torrado's blast against the United States. But there was no clue whether Cuba would try to put a formal complaint on the assembly agenda for debate.

Until Dorticos addressed the General Assembly on Monday, the U.S. delegation had the impression Fidel Castro's regime would not press its usual charge of aggression this year. But the bitterness of the Cuban president's assault left the Americans uncertain.

Dorticos gave no hint in his hour and 45-minute speech what strategy his delegation would pursue. He made a vague demand that the United Nations condemn as an act of war any U.S. blockade of his country.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko is expected to touch off a general East-West exchange when he takes the floor this week to answer Western charges that the Soviet military buildup in Cuba endangers peace in the Western Hemisphere.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson refused to answer Dorticos' accusations in the assembly Monday, since U.N. traditionally throws on anyone debating a chief of state. He did take the floor long enough to accuse the Cuba leader of attacking the United States with "unparalleled calumnies, slanders and misrepresentations."

Stevenson told a news conference later the charges by Dorticos were "neither original nor true." He stressed again that the United States would not attack Cuba but added: "Let it be equally clear that the United States will not tolerate aggression against any part of this hemisphere."

Stevenson branded as absurd Cuban charges that U.S. economic action against Castro's regime was either aggressive or warlike.

Stevenson also leveled a warning at the Soviet Union.

"Let no one mistake the impact of this Soviet intervention in Cuba on the hope we all share for world peace," he said. "If the Soviet Union persists in the course it has chosen, if it continues to try to prevent the peaceful social revolution of the Americas, it will increasingly excite the deep indignation of the people of my country and of other American states."

Ohio Woman Nabbed by FBI

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Pauline Van Dam, 32, of Cincinnati, sought in the shooting of a Las Vegas, Nev., night club executive, has been arrested by FBI agents.

She was held in the Wayne County jail for a hearing today. Bernard C. Brown, FBI agent in charge of the Detroit office, said Mrs. Van Dam was wanted on a federal fugitive warrant in the shooting of Al Garban, an executive of the Lucky Strike Club, in a robbery attempt last February.

She was sought in 11 states after she jumped a $15,000 bond when she failed to appear in Las Vegas in July on a charge of assault with intent to kill. She was arrested in a downtown bar Monday.

13 Known Missile Sites Are Reported in Cuba

HAVERFORD, Pa. (AP)—Cuba now has 13 known missile sites and more than 5,000 Russian technicians, says Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa. He says existence of the bases was verified in a recent briefing session for congressmen in Washington.

Schweiker told a group of Haverford College students Monday night that 11 bases are surface-to-air installations which use missiles similar to America's Nike series. The others are surface-to-ship installations designed to protect harbors, he said.

Rock-Throwing, Student Jeers Keep Up Tension at Ole Miss

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—A flying rock and a crowd of jeering students renewed tensions on the University of Mississippi campus Monday, after James H. Meredith's second week as a student had begun in comparative calm.

The incident occurred at the university cafeteria Monday night after Meredith arrived for dinner.

No one was hurt but some broken glass sprinkled on the 29-year-old Negro's table.

Some 270 students jeered and shouted in front of the cafeteria.

Earlier, Meredith attended classes without having to walk through crowds of booing students, a sharp contrast with last week. Two marshals trailed 30 or 40 feet behind.

Meredith's day went quietly until dinner.

Earlier, in the morning, two unidentified white students shook Meredith's hand as he walked toward his Baxter Hall apartment.

Meredith said he expected to settle down to his studies now that distractions were decreasing. He said he was having no academic difficulties because "I have lived under adverse circumstances all my life."

The evening incident lasted only briefly. The rock which shattered a cafeteria window apparently came from the group of students in front.

Marshals hustled Meredith out a back door.

The students then turned their attention to an auto which federal officials had been using and let the air out of its tire. One official yelled that the car was federal property.

The Justice Department, meanwhile, opened its campaign to gain student acceptance of Meredith. Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach met with 200 law students and a smaller group of campus leaders. He indicated he was pleased with the outcome.

Katzenbach said he did not ask the students to do anything, but sought to explain and answer questions about the federal government's action in breaking segregation barriers at the 114-year-old university.

It was reported that some of the law students peppered Katzenbach with questions critical of him and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

With the San Francisco Giants and New York Yankees all even at two wins each, Jack Sanford (24-7) had been scheduled to pitch for the Giants against Ralph Terry (23-12), the man he beat 2-0 in the second game.

The rainout simply shoved back the schedule of remaining games. After Wednesday's fifth game at New York, there will be an off day for travel Thursday. The sixth game will be played in San Francisco Friday and the seventh, if necessary, Saturday at San Francisco.

Castro Supporters Attacked in Gotham

NEW YORK (AP)—Anti-Castro Cubans attacked Castro supporters across the street from the United Nations building Monday with rocks and fists, then mounted a barrage of rotten eggs.

Police arrested 33 persons. An address inside the General Assembly hall by Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos led to the appearance of the demonstrators. Dorticos denounced the United States in his speech.

Demonstrators in the assembly galleries flung such epithets as "traitor" and "assassin" at Dorticos, while some 300 opponents of Prime Minister Fidel Castro paraded outside.

Thieves made off with more than $1,000 in spark plugs during the night from Circle Auto Parts, S. Court St., according to the Circleville Police Department.

Meredith Criticizes Both Army, NAACP Aide

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—James H. Meredith, Negro student attending the University of Mississippi under federal guard, today criticized the Army and, by implication, the officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In an interview he sought, Meredith complained the Army had inflicted "a dishonor and a disgrace" on Negro soldiers by segregating troops brought into Oxford after the riot that attended his appearance here nine days ago.

His other complaint was against what he called "this inflammatory claim" by some people that he had been "picked, selected or chosen by them to integrate the University of Mississippi."

The president of the Mississippi NAACP, Aaron Henry, was reported earlier as saying Meredith was selected from a list of candidates for the desegregation move. Meredith denied this after the report of Henry's statement.

"I have good reason to believe that this and similar accusations have resulted in stronger opposition to me by the students at the university," Meredith said.

"If it were true, I must admit that I would think their opposition would be in some ways justified," he said.

Meredith said, "I consider it of utmost importance that the persons who claim to be the Negro leaders would be individuals of unquestioned integrity and not individuals who will make irresponsible statements to gain personal ends."

As for the military, Meredith said that during his first two days on the campus, "the military units looked like American units."

"Since that time the units have been re-segregated, Negroes have been purged from their positions in the ranks," he said.

Meredith said that he complained to "the proper authorities" Thursday, and that the next day he was told the situation would be corrected.

On Monday, he said, "Negro soldiers were indeed seen again among the soldiers. The ones I saw, however, were on a garbage detail truck and unarmed. The white members of the detail were armed. This condition constitutes a dishonor and a disgrace to the hundreds of thousands of Negroes who wear the uniforms of our military services."

He said his conscience would not allow him to go on without "at least letting the Negro soldiers know that I did not like them being dishonored."

Asked whether he thinks the university has failed to discipline students who heckled him, Meredith replied:

"I don't know if the university is disciplining hecklers or not, and I am not seeking to find out."

Meredith said he wanted to thank the federal marshals and the Justice Department for what he called "the fine way" they handled his entering and remaining in the university.

Series Game Is Rained Out

NEW YORK (AP) — The fifth World Series game was postponed today because of rain after a delay of more than an hour. It will be played Wednesday at Yankee Stadium.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Officers of the Cleveland Teamsters Union appear ready to support State Auditor James A. Rhodes, Republican candidate for governor.

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—James H. Meredith, Negro student attending the University of Mississippi under federal guard, today criticized the Army and, by implication, the officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In an interview he sought, Meredith complained the Army had inflicted "a dishonor and a disgrace" on Negro soldiers by segregating troops brought into Oxford after the riot that attended his appearance here nine days ago.

His other complaint was against what he called "this inflammatory claim" by some people that he had been "picked, selected or chosen by them to integrate the University of Mississippi."

The president of the Mississippi NAACP, Aaron Henry, was reported earlier as saying Meredith was selected from a list of candidates for the desegregation move. Meredith denied this after the report of Henry's statement.

"I have good reason to believe that this and similar accusations have resulted in stronger opposition to me by the students at the university," Meredith said.

"If it were true, I must admit that I would think their opposition would be in some ways justified," he said.

Meredith said, "I consider it of utmost importance that the persons who claim to be the Negro leaders would be individuals of unquestioned integrity and not individuals who will make irresponsible statements to gain personal ends."

As for the military, Meredith said that during his first two days on the campus, "the military units looked like American units."

"Since that time the units have been re-segregated, Negroes have Additional factors in the annexation plan due for consideration include about 200 acres in the southwest portion of the area owned by the Miller Development Co., a wholly subsidiary of South-Central Rural Electric. This section has been earmarked for a housing development where South-Central desires to provide power.

Power to Circleville presently is furnished by the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. A successful annexation indicates a power controversy between the two electric firms, although both have expressed hopes of finding a solution if the land change does take place.

The County Commission is not expected to take further action on the annexation until the public hearing on Nov. 27. City Council has discussed the matter, but has reached no decisions on what it will or will not accept or the stand it will take prior to and following the Commissioners' session.

British Note Secret Pocket In Soblen Case

LONDON (AP) — A Scotland Yard detective said today Robert A. Soblen apparently knocked himself into a fatal coma Sept. 6 with a drug hidden in a secret pocket of his trousers.

"I have found no evidence that he was assisted by any person," Superintendent James McKay told an inquest into the fugitive spy's death.

McKay said the drug used was known as latesate and manufactured only in the United States. He added that it was not on sale in retail stores anywhere and that a cellophane packet of the drug found in Soblen's clothing was of a type supplied by manufacturers to doctors as free samples.

Soblen, 61, a New York psychiatrist, collapsed in an ambulance taking him from Brixton Prison to London Airport. He was to have been deported on a New York-bound airliner to face life imprisonment as a spy for the Soviet Union.

The ambulance took him to Hillingdon Hospital near the airport. He died five days later without regaining consciousness. A doctor who treated him attributed his death to exhaustion which followed convulsions caused by a brain hemorrhage.

A Brixton Prison guard told the inquest Soblen had been stripped and searched minutely less than two hours before he entered the ambulance.

Schoolgirl Ordered Expelled In Gym Bloomer Squabble

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Judy Rae Bushong, who feels exposing her knees in gym class is immoral, was given one week today to appear in bloomer-type shorts and other girls wear or face permanent expulsion from high school.

School officials said the girl and her parents would be notified of the deadline in a registered letter.

Soon after the township school board voted unanimously Monday night to order Judy expelled if she doesn't comply, the 17-year-old girl said she would never agree to wear shorts because of her religious convictions.

Her father, the Rev. Herbert Bushong, an ordained minister and part-time pastor at the non-denominational church of Soul's Harbor in Waynesburg, near Canton, said: "I pay taxes that go to support the school and my daughter should be allowed to attend. Why should I have to pay tuition and transportation for her to go elsewhere?"

The girl was suspended from Springfield Township High School Sept. 24. Her father said she could wear either slacks or pedal pushers in gym classes. This didn't satisfy school officials.

The suspension first was ordered by James Stone, high school principal. He was supported by Supt. Charles Rieger.

"A passage in the state code says religious beliefs of parents are not sufficient ground for excuse from reasonable regulations of boards of education or requirements of school authorities on what type of clothing shall be worn when taking classes," Rieger said.

Stone must report to Rieger today on whether Miss Bushong still refuses to wear shorts. Rieger then would expel her subject to special review by the board. The expulsion motion was offered by Board President Norman Ott, who asked board members if any opposed the school policy of shorts for girls in gym classes. None did.

Judy, who also refuses to wear lipstick because "God made my lips the color he wanted them," drew vocal support from three ministers who attended the board meeting.

The Rev. I.D. Swinehart, pastor of the First Wesleyan Methodist Church of Akron and a minister for 35 years, said Judy's modesty was "the universal conviction of all womanhood 30 years ago."

"You have totally ignored the moral view," he told board members after they had voted. "And I am astonished."

The Rev. B. W. Hale, pastor of Missionary Gospel Church, said Judy had a right under the Constitution to freedom of conscience and could wear what she pleased.

"This board is trying to force her to commit a sin in her mind," he added.

The Rev. F. E. Satterfield of Tallmadge said he questioned whether there ever should be a law to force a woman "to undress before a man more than she desires."

Man Sentenced To State Pen For Burglary

Common Pleas Judge William Ammer sentenced a Cincinnati man to the Ohio State Penitentiary today on charges of burglarizing Brunner's Jewelry Store on June 17.

Harold Lutchens was handed a sentence of 1-5 years after pleading guilty to charges. He was tried on a bill of information by Prosecuting Attorney Robert H. Huffer.

Lutchens was delivered to the local courtroom today by Van Wert County authorities enroute to the Ohio Penitentiary. Lutchens also pleaded guilty to a burglary charge in Van Wert and was sentenced there.

Two area men indicted by the September session of the Grand Jury were arraigned today. Everett Grabill, Route 1, Orient, and Raymond Grabill, Route 3, Mt. Sterling both pleaded innocent to perjury charges.

Their arraignments were continued upon the presentation of medical certificates following the Grand Jury session.

Both men were released today under bond.

Schoolgirl Ordered Expelled In Gym Bloomer Squabble

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Judy Rae Bushong, who feels exposing her knees in gym class is immoral, was given one week today to appear in bloomer-type shorts and other girls wear or face permanent expulsion from high school.

School officials said the girl and her parents would be notified of the deadline in a registered letter. Soon after the township school board voted unanimously Monday night to order Judy expelled if she doesn't comply, the 17-year-old girl said she would never agree to wear shorts because of her religious convictions.

Her father, the Rev. Herbert Bushong, an ordained minister and part-time pastor at the non-denominational church of Soul's Harbor in Waynesburg, near Canton, said: "I pay taxes that go to support the school and my daughter should be allowed to attend. Way should I have to pay tuition and transportation for her to go elsewhere?"

The girl was suspended from Springfield Township High School Sept. 24. Her father said she could wear either slacks or pedal pushers in gym classes. This didn't satisfy school officials.

The suspension first was ordered by James Stone, high school principal. He was supported by Supt. Charles Rieger.

"A passage in the state code says religious beliefs of parents are not sufficient ground for excuse from reasonable regulations of boards of education or requirements of school authorities on what type of clothing shall be worn when taking classes," Rieger said.

Stone must report to Rieger today on whether Miss Bushong still refuses to wear shorts. Rieger then would expel her subject to special review by the board. The expulsion motion was offered by Board President Norman Ott, who asked board members if any opposed the school policy of shorts for girls in gym classes. None did.

Judy, who also refuses to wear lipstick because "God made my lips the color he wanted them," drew vocal support from three ministers who attended the board meeting. The Rev. I. D. Swinehart, pastor of the First Wesleyan Methodist Church of Akron and a minister for 35 years, said Judy's modesty was "the universal conviction of all womanhood 30 years ago."

"You have totally ignored the moral view," he told board members after they had voted. "And I am astonished."

The Rev. B. W. Hale, pastor of Missionary Gospel Church, said Judy had a right under the Constitution to freedom of conscience and could wear what she pleased. "This board is trying to force her to commit a sin in her mind," he added.

The Rev. F. E. Satterfield of Tallmadge said he questioned whether there ever should be a law to force a woman "to undress before a man more than she desires."

Robert Pritchard, Negro concert pianist, collapsed on the stage of Philharmonic Hall in New York and was rushed to a hospital suffering from what doctors describe as nervous exhaustion.

The 33-year-old pianist, first Negro to play in the new hall, collapsed after taking an encore and was carried away by stage hands in full view of 2,000 persons attending a charity affair. Pritchard, listed in fair condition at the hospital, had been "intensely keyed up," his personal manager said.

Pablo Casals, the world famous Spanish cellist, left Toulouse, France, by plane for the United States. He is due to be received by President Kennedy in Washington and to appear at a Columbus Day meeting Friday in Puerto Rico, where he makes his home. Archbishops Paul Yu Pin of Formosa, John Gannon of Erie, Pa., and the Most Rev. Paul J. Hallinan of Atlanta, Ga., were among 57 Roman Catholic clergymen who left New York by plane en route to the 2nd Vatican Council which begins in Rome Thursday.

Traveling with them was Methodist Bishop Fred Corson of Philadelphia, president of the World Methodist Council, who will act as an observer for his church. On an earlier flight was James Cardinal McIntyre, archbishop of Los Angeles.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Skies continued cloudy over Ohio Monday night, and light rain and drizzle fell in the central and northeastern counties.

Temperatures remained very steady during the night with most readings in the upper 50s.

A weak low pressure area over Lake Erie this morning will move into New York State today, and skies will become partly cloudy over much of Ohio in the afternoon. Temperatures will rise into the upper 60s and low 70s.

It will be mostly fair tonight, and temperatures will be a little lower.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has been keeping ideas to a minimum in his campaigning to get a Democratic Congress elected in November.

Ohio Slayer Denied Review By Tribunal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has refused to review the trial of Lawson Edward Schaber, who is under sentence of death in the electric chair in Ohio for the robbery-slaying of a woman taxi driver, Velma Byers.

The woman was found dead on a road on the outskirts of East Toledo on Feb. 18, 1960. She had been robbed and shot through the head.

Schaber waived a jury trial, was tried before three judges in Lucas County court, convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to death.

Counsel for Schaber in appealing to the high tribunal questioned constitutionality of Ohio law, which requires a jury or three-judge court to determine punishment in first-degree murder cases. The attorneys protested that the law does not provide any standards to guide the jury or judges in fixing punishment.

Schaber's appeal also protested that he was arraigned July 12, 1960, without assistance of counsel and was not represented by counsel when on July 13, 1960, he was ordered to Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane for observation for one month. Schaber was found legally sane and he was tried Dec. 19 and 20, 1960. The Ohio Supreme Court upheld the conviction on Dec. 12, 1961.

Democrats have in Congress, where they outnumber Republicans 261 to 174 in the House and 64 to 36 in the Senate.

Instead, Kennedy said the Republicans have made "no" a "political program but I believe in the word 'yes.'"

But the "no" votes of the Republicans would have been drowned out if all the Democrats had stuck together in supporting Kennedy. The fact that they did not is good reason for his asking for more Democrats.

This is like getting mixed up in a numbers game since Kennedy's plea for even more Democrats raises the question of just how many Democrats does he need to win if he can't get his programs through in a Congress where Republicans are already a minority.

The truth is that too often, for his own good, enough of his Democrats teamed up with Republicans to put the rest of the Democrats in a minority. Another truth is that some Republicans went along with him better than some of his own Democrats.

Trying to explain all this is probably the main reason Kennedy is sticking to just a few ideas that can be easily absorbed by his listeners like his central theme:

"I hold the view in 1962 that it is vitally important that we have an executive branch of the government and a House and a Senate that is committed to progress."

Japan has banned the building of hotels in the area of the country's 72-inch telescope atop Mt. Chikurin. Only lodges and youth hostels are permitted.

Rockefeller Appears Cinch To Win Re-Election Bid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller appears to be a heavy favorite to win re-election in New York State, despite direct opposition from Democratic President Kennedy on one side and the extreme right wing on the other.

Because of the nature of the opposition, a clear-cut victory for Rockefeller could put him in the lead for the Republican nomination for president in 1964.

The election pits the exuberant, dashing Rockefeller against Democrat Robert M. Morgenthau, a reserved, soft-spoken lawyer who was a political unknown only a few weeks ago.

Morgenthau resigned as a U.S. attorney to take the nomination, reportedly with the urging of Kennedy. The President will campaign for him in the state along with such other Democratic big guns as former President Harry S. Truman, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Anthony Celebrezze, secretary of health, education and welfare.

The Democratic nominee is the son of Henry Morgenthau Jr., U.S. secretary of the Treasury under President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

He is 43, married, the father of four children, a novice at grass roots campaigning, and wealthy. Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits, 58, aggressive and articulate, is running for re-election with Rockefeller and also is favored to win.

The Democratic nominee for the Senate is James B. Donovan, a 46-year-old Brooklyn lawyer who negotiated the release of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers from a Soviet viet jail and now is negotiating with the Castro regime for release of Cubans captured in the Bay of Pigs invasion.

At 54, Rockefeller is a little more gray and his face is a little more lined but otherwise he retains the youthful appearance and enthusiasm that served him well in his 1958 campaign. He came from behind and defeated incumbent W. Averell Harriman by 573,000 votes.

Democratic leaders, in choosing Morgenthau, wanted a Jewish candidate, who theoretically would appeal to the large number of voters of that faith in New York City; a newcomer not associated with any of the warring factions; and a well-known name.

Rockefeller, who campaigns with smiling, handshaking zest, is seeking re-election on the basis of

The presidential presence—the sight of him—has been going over big, as usual. Big crowds turn out to give him big cheers and big applause.

But what he has had to say sounds tired from repetition. This gives the impression that he feels if he can just stimulate his listeners into voting at all they will vote Democratic.

He blames the Republicans for most of his troubles with the present Congress, where Democrats far outnumber Republicans, and even for some of the ills he inherited, like Cuba, but hasn't yet solved.

Since this is the usual tactic in a campaign, Kennedy's efforts so far have no particular distinction. He may give it some unique quality of his own before the campaign ends. He hasn't yet.

One of the differences between Kennedy and former President Truman showed up in the week-end politicking.

Kennedy, unlike Truman, makes a studied effort to avoid getting people mad at him. While he attacked Republicans for blocking him in Congress, he didn't single them out by name.

Truman, trying to rally votes in Indiana for Birch E. Bagh Jr., a Democrat running against Republican Sen. Homer Capehart, attacked the latter so vigorously that Capehart threatened to sue him for slander.

One of Kennedy's favorite week-end themes was a call for help—meaning election of more Democrats to Congress—"in moving this country forward."

He didn't spend much time mentioning the huge majorities his

Democrats have in Congress, where they outnumber Republicans 261 to 174 in the House and 64 to 36 in the Senate.

Instead, Kennedy said the Republicans have made "no" a "political program but I believe in the word 'yes.'"

But the "no" votes of the Republicans would have been drowned out if all the Democrats had stuck together in supporting Kennedy. The fact that they did not is good reason for his asking for more Democrats.

Debasing Sports

Inevitably, although inexcusably, the lack of principle exhibited by many of the "uncommitted" nations of the world spills over into matters non-political. Indonesia has provided an excellent example by its debasement of the letter and the spirit of the Olympics while acting as host to the fourth Asian Games in Jakarta.

In violation of the charter of the games, created by the World Olympics, Indonesia refused to invite two charter members of the games, Nationalist China and Israel, to participate in the contests. Indonesia withheld these invitations at the urging of Red China and the Arab countries, although the charter prohibits political discrimination against any person or country. As a result of Jakarta's indefensible action, the International Amateur Athletic Federation withdrew recognition; the International Olympics Committee canceled its sponsorship, and many of the weightlifting teams refused to participate after the International Weightlifting Federation warned it would disqualify any contestants for Olympics competition.

When an Indian official of the games attempted to salvage something by suggesting a change of name for the meet, Indonesian mobs ransacked the Indian embassy.

Indonesia's conduct has disgusted all genuine sportsmen, but it has supplied a valuable lesson to other cold war opportunists who might consider hosting such an event. Their motto, "all's fair in love and war," is not condoned in sports.

Just Plain Demanding Work

When a particularly brutal murder has been committed, some people become impatient if an arrest does not quickly follow. They think the police are slack, that they are going easy on the job.

After all, amateur detectives in "who-dunits" and crime films unerringly discover the murderer. They brilliantly combine deduction and intuition. Why cannot the police do the same?

But fact and fiction could not be farther apart. If the suspected culprit is not immediately apparent, then a lot of dogged patience and sheer hard work are demanded of the police. There is no romance in it.

When it is suspected that the murderer is a stranger, or a casual one-time acquaintance of the victim, investigation can be extraordinarily difficult. Hundreds of persons may be questioned; clues may be few and lead to a dead end. There is, for a time, nowhere new to go. All the ground in the case has been trodden over many times.

Still the police do not give up. A reward may be offered. Somewhere, someone's memory may be stimulated. Murderers who wish to avoid the consequences of their crimes do not, if they can prevent it, have witnesses. But they are human they make errors; they talk sometimes. Someone may remember.

The offer of a reward is not insinuation of police inadequacy. It is proof that exhausting day and night work has led nowhere. Something new, however slight, that provides a new "lead" is needed to set the patient machine in progress again.

Remarks To Irk Cigar-Smokers

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a cigar smoker gets tired of hearing:

"I can smell it all over the house."

"What are you smoking—a rope?"

"Gee, Elmer, do you mind finishing your cigar outside on the patio? My wife just bought these draperies, and..."

"He says if they were good enough for his grandfather they're good enough for him—but that cigar smells like one his grandfather left him in his will."

"I know I didn't used to object to it, Elmer, but that was before we were married."

"No, that's him over there—the one causing the blue fog."

"There is no use of your looking around for your humidor, Elmer. I buried it today while you were at work."

"I'm afraid you'll have to start taking a cheaper brand, sir. We're about out of clear Havana."

"Please don't put it out in the house. Why not take it out in the back yard and beat it to death with a stick?"

"My husband says General Grant smoked them, and so does President Kennedy. So I told him, 'When you get elected President and we move into the White House, I'll let you smoke all you want of them there.'"

"Doctor, are you absolutely sure there is no major disease I can tell him is caused by cigars?"

"I heard somewhere that psychiatrists say cigar smoking is a sign of oral infantilism. They're just big overgrown babies—trying to return to the cradle."

"I don't know why they should taste funny. All I did was dip the ends of them in perfume—so they'd have a pleasanter aroma."

"Yes, you can play with daddy's cigars, children. Mommy'll give you a penny for each one you break."

"I think he has the idea they make him look like a television western hero. But he gets mad when I call him Chief Big Cloud."

"The worst thing about the population explosion is that whenever anybody has a baby the father gives Elmer another cigar. If that isn't a good argument for birth control, I never heard one."

"You understand I don't mind a man lighting up a cigar in the office, Elmer—but the secretaries complain it makes them ill. Why don't you just wait and smoke them at home? Surely your wife doesn't mind?"

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Deflation is the new buzzword of a small but growing group of stock market and business observers.

A few months back a more vocal group was worrying about inflation—sharp rises in the prices of goods and marked cheapening of the dollar.

Some of them still are, mainly because the prospects of an increasing treasury deficit could pressure monetary inflation.

But more are now talking about the prospect of deflation. That is, a drop in commodity prices and those of basic industrial products, and still weaker stock prices that might forecast, and nurture, a recession that could become world wide.

Just as the inflationary scare has yet to show any signs of materializing, so deflationary fears here and abroad may only be borrowing of trouble.

Weakness of stock markets in the United States, followed by declining markets in many other financial centers, has set the stage for the deflation specter. A bear market brings all sorts of pessimism out of the wings under the gaze of a disillusioned public.

More factual is a long period in which most commodity prices have remained below their former highs. Some industrial prices are being cut. Example: weakness in some steel product prices.

Farther afield, those who talk of a chance of deflation ahead base it on fears a new recession may be in the making for the United States next year. And they think this might involve other nations. Already England has been showing down. Japan has been showing some internal trouble spots. West

Germany's postwar boom has lost some of its shine.

Both U.S. government and corporate economists have been stressing that the inflationary boom that followed World War II apparently has ended.

But this doesn't mean that deflation is inevitable.

While commodity and industrial material prices have been weak, most retail prices haven't—as you doubtless know. All of the manufacturing, distribution and servicing costs that come between the prime producer and the consumer have gone on rising. And so have the costs of the multiplying personal services that play an ever greater role in your life.

So deflation is unlikely to show any time soon at the consumer level. At present it is a worry for the prime producers and for manufacturers faced with competition that seems to grow on all sides, both at home and from abroad. And it will be a worry for stock traders, since many of the biggest corporations are in the producing or processing fields. The problem is whether they can keep their prices high enough to assure healthy profit margins.

A FOND FATHER was hurrying up the pathway to greet his 4-year-old daughter, busy playing at watering the lawn. Without warning, she turned the hose on him, drenching him thoroughly. Her alibi was inspired. "Oh, Daddikins," she dimpled. "I thought you were a FLOWER!"

In a well-stocked clothes closet, a moth and his mate came upon a pair of woolen spats and had a feast for themselves. Later the moth flew about a bit to digest his dinner and bumped into a pal who caroled, "Hi boy! How ya doin'?" "Not so hot," admitted the moth. "I just had a spat with my wife."

Two citizens of Athens were in Dublin one Sunday afternoon, watching a game of hurling (the Hibernian equivalent of field hockey—and very, very rough). "I don't understand this game at all," admitted one of the Greeks. "Neither do I," nodded the other. "It's all Irish to me."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.

How can you get rid of varicose veins — those bulging blue corkscrews just beneath the skin? Clogged deeper veins, continual standing, pregnancy, extra weight all stretch thin vein walls, especially if you inherited the varicose tendency.

Soon veins sag and blue corkscrews begin to bulge. They collapse when your legs are up on pillows.

To prevent sagging veins when you stand up, wrap a four-inch elastic bandage around the leg each morning. You may need a second bandage for varicose veins about the knee.

Less unsightly elastic stockings and rubberized nylons often stretch and lose their oomph too soon.

Help veins drain! Prop your feet up for ten minutes every few hours. At home, lie on bed or couch with legs on pillows. At work, play the big tycoon; lean back with your feet up on the desk.

If the boss objects, keep your feet on the floor and flap them up and down vigorously.

Members of the standing work force can still exercise varicose veins on the job. Stand on tiptoes, hold, then relax. Repeat ten times each hour.

Working leg muscles squeeze veins and pump blood up towards the abdomen, emptying varicose corkscrews.

Perhaps the boss can transfer you to a sitting job. Sales girls make good cashiers. Men who know the production line can usually simplify paper work upstairs.

While snug bandages prevent bulging clot-forming injections can transform small varicose veins into invisible scars. The surgeon may have to disconnect larger blue corkscrews from the constant back pressure of deeper veins.

Cut calories and reduce your varicose problem. Remember — even after surgery, extra fat greases the way to more varicose trouble!

Legal Rights of States Remain

By George Sokolsky

The "New York Herald Tribune" prints the following letter that a student wrote to Senator Clifford Case:

"In history class I learned that when a President of the U. S. commits a serious crime he is impeached. Why isn't a Federal governor, who is only assigned to one state, immediately taken out of office when he commits such a serious misdemeanor as not obeying orders of government?"

The young student is not to be blamed for his or her ignorance. Since our public schools have ceased to teach civics, not only children but adults who have the right to vote, know very little about our government. My mail on the subject would make an interesting volume and might explain the apathy or extremism of many citizens, who have not yet discovered that we are governed by a Constitution which has managed well for us for 173 years, making us the oldest continuous government on Earth.

I hope Senator Case explains to the student that the United States is a federation of sovereign states; that it was the states that formed the federation and ratified the Constitution; that Governors of states are not assigned to their posts by the President of the United States but are elected by the people of each state; that they are not Federal officials; that the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution safeguards the rights of each state.

Many of the states existed, as colonies, prior to the Revolutionary War. Others came into the nation by the Louisiana Purchase (1803). Florida was ceded by Spain by treaty in 1819. Texas was brought into the United States in 1845. The Oregon Country a year later and California and the Rocky Mountain States came in in 1848. Hawaii became a state in 1959. In a word, the United States has been growing as a federation of states from 1776 to the present day. Remaining outside the federation are Puerto Rico and some islands in the Pacific.

For a considerable period of American history, the question bothered the people as to whether a state having joined the federation, could secede from it. The question was settled by the Civil War. Had the South won the Civil War, the probability is that there might have been a number of nations in the area that is called the United States. This would have been altogether a different kind of nation. However, the North won and the 14th and 15th Amendments to the Constitution were passed.

Nevertheless, there has never been a period in American history when the question of State's Rights was not raised in some part of the country. Under the 10th Amendment, the authority of the Federal Administration in Washington is limited. However, the welfare and the inter-state commerce clauses of the Constitution gave the Federal Government opportunities for expansion. The Income Tax Amendment increased the authority of Washington and weakened the states and municipalities because it reduced their access to the citizen's funds through taxes.

The deep Depression, which began in 1929 and really ended in 1938, imposed upon the President many responsibilities and authorities which he had not had before.

I only hope this year's winner will be as proud as I am. I have many trophies, but somehow this one was special for me to earn.

I have a full schedule this month, but last year on my way home from Circleville I decided to keep the Pumpkin Show Baton Contest date open if show officials by chance should want me to present the trophy to this year's winner. Even though I cannot enter again, I am interested.

VIRGINIA ALEXANDER
COLUMBUS

Also, two world wars in which the United States played a leading role, expanded the powers and responsibilities of the President and Congress tremendously.

Also, it is to be noted that the means of transportation and the mobility of the American people have changed many aspects of State's Rights. The automobile, for instance, brings areas together and the "big city" development has the effect of associating the states more closely. For instance, the "big city" for the University of Mississippi is Memphis, Tennessee, just as the "big city" for parts of New Jersey and Connecticut is New York, Chicago, which is politically in Illinois, is geographically related to Indiana and so it goes.

It used to be that a people were emotionally tied to their states, but nowadays, Americans are all over the place. A New Jerseyite, for instance, might have a job in New Mexico and spend his life there. In a word, for some people state boundaries do not mean as much as for others and state emotions do not run as high for some as for others.

But the legal and structural rights of each state remain secure although in the early years of Franklin D. Roosevelt's regime there was talk of abolishing the state and dividing the country into regions.

Debasing Sports

Inevitably, although inexcusably, the lack of principle exhibited by many of the "uncommitted" nations of the world spills over into matters non-political. Indonesia has provided an excellent example by its debasement of the letter and the spirit of the Olympics while acting as host to the fourth Asian Games in Jakarta.

In violation of the charter of the games, created by the World Olympics, Indonesia refused to invite two charter members of the games, Nationalist China and Israel, to participate in the contests. Indonesia withheld these invitations at the urging of Red China and the Arab countries, although the charter prohibits political discrimination against any person or country.

As a result of Jakarta's indefensible action, the International Amateur Athletic Federation withdrew recognition; the International Olympics Committee canceled its sponsorship, and many of the weightlifting teams refused to participate after the International Weightlifting Federation warned it would disqualify any contestants for Olympics competition.

When an Indian official of the games attempted to salvage something by suggesting a change of name for the meet, Indonesian mobs ransacked the Indian embassy.

Indonesia's conduct has disgusted all genuine sportsmen, but it has supplied a valuable lesson to other cold war opportunists who might consider hosting such an event. Their motto, "all's fair in love and war," is not condoned in sports.

Just Plain Demanding Work

When a particularly brutal murder has been committed, some people become impatient if an arrest does not quickly follow. They think the police are slack, that they are going easy on the job.

After all, amateur detectives in "whodunits" and crime films unerringly discover the murderer. They brilliantly combine deduction and intuition. Why cannot the police do the same?

But fact and fiction could not be farther apart. If the suspected culprit is not immediately apparent, then a lot of dogged patience and sheer hard work are demanded of the police. There is no romance in it.

When it is suspected that the murderer is a stranger, or a casual one-time acquaintance of the victim, investigation can be extraordinarily difficult. Hundreds of persons may be questioned; clues may be few and lead to a dead end. There is, for a time, nowhere new to go. All the ground in the case has been trodden over many times.

Still the police do not give up. A reward may be offered. Somewhere, someone's memory may be stimulated. Murderers who wish to avoid the consequences of their crimes do not, if they can prevent it, have witnesses. But they are human they make errors; they talk sometimes. Someone may remember.

The offer of a reward is not insinuation of police inadequacy. It is proof that exhausting day and night work has led nowhere. Something new, however slight, that provides a new "lead" is needed to set the patient machine in progress again.

Remarks To Irk Cigar-Smokers

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a cigar smoker gets tired of hearing:

"I can smell it all over the house."

"What are you smoking—a rope?"

"Gee, Elmer, do you mind finishing your cigar outside on the patio? My wife just bought these draperies, and..."

"He says if they were good enough for his grandfather they're good enough for him—but that cigar smells like one his grandfather left him in his will."

"I know I didn't use to object to it, Elmer, but that was before we were married."

"No, that's him over there—the one causing the blue fog."

"There is no use of your looking around for your humidor, Elmer. I buried it today while you were at work."

"I'm afraid you'll have to start taking a cheaper brand, sir. We're about out of clear Havana."

"Please don't put it out in the house. Why not take it out in the back yard and beat it to death with a stick?"

"My husband says General Grant smoked them, and so does President Kennedy. So I told him, 'When you get elected President and we move into the White House, I'll let you smoke all you want of them.'"

"Doctor, are you absolutely sure there is no major disease I can tell him is caused by cigars?"

"I heard somewhere that psychiatrists say cigar smoking is a sign of oral infantilism. They're just big overgrown babies—trying to return to the cradle."

"I don't know why they should taste funny. All I did was dip the ends of them in perfume—so they'd have a pleasanter aroma."

"Yes, you can play with daddy's cigars, children. Mommy'll give you a penny for each one you break."

"I think he has the idea they make him look like a television western hero. But he gets mad when I call him Chief Big Cloud."

"The worst thing about the population explosion is that whenever anybody has a baby the father gives Elmer another cigar. If that isn't a good argument for birth control, I never heard one."

"You understand I don't mind a man lighting up a cigar in the office, Elmer—but the secretaries complain it makes them ill. Why don't you just wait and smoke them at home? Surely your wife doesn't mind!"

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Deflation is the new bugaboo of a small but growing group of stock market and business observers.

A few months back a more vocal group was worrying about inflation—sharp rises in the prices of goods and marked cheapening of the dollar.

Some of them still are, mainly because the prospects of an increasing treasury deficit could pressure monetary inflation. But more are now talking about the prospect of deflation. That is, a drop in commodity prices and those of basic industrial products, and still weaker stock prices that might forecast, and nurture, a recession that could become world wide.

Just as the inflationary scare has yet to show any signs of materializing, so deflationary fears here and abroad may be only borrowing of trouble.

Weakness of stock markets in the United States, followed by declining markets in many other financial centers, has set the stage for the deflation specter. A bear market brings all sorts of pessimists out of the wings under the gaze of a disillusioned public.

More factual is a long period in which most commodity prices have remained below their former highs. Some industrial prices are being cut. Example: weakness in some steel product prices.

Farther afield, those who talk of a chance of deflation ahead base it on fears a new recession may be in the making for the United States next year. And they think this might involve other nations. Already England has been slowing down. Japan has been showing some internal trouble spots. West

Germany's postwar boom has lost some of its shine. Both U.S. government and corporate economists have been stressing that the inflationary boom that followed World War II apparently has ended.

But this doesn't mean that deflation is inevitable. While commodity and industrial material prices have been weak, most retail prices haven't—as you doubtless know. New Circuit Installed for Tarlton Unit

Tarlton telephone users may occasionally hear a "beep-beep" tone overriding their telephone conversations, according to local General Telephone Co. officials.

Donald F. Colegrove, General's district commercial manager, says the tone is associated with a special fire-alarm conference circuit recently installed for the Salt-creek-Tarlton Volunteer Fire Department.

The tone serves as a warning that an emergency call is waiting to be answered by a fire reporting station on one of the lines.

Colegrove urged Tarlton telephone users who hear such a signal while talking to hang up immediately. To continue talking could keep an emergency call from reaching a fireman, he added.

A fire reporting number has also been assigned to the fire department, Colegrove said. The number is GR 4-7474.

Emergency calls placed to the fire reporting number are automatically routed to each of eight reporting stations. A continuous ringing at an answering location distinguishes an emergency call from an ordinary call.

Once answered a conference circuit is established permitting eight different firemen to receive the emergency information. The caller is free to return to the scene after passing the information to the first person answering the call.

Individuals having reporting stations include fire chief Nelson E. Jones, Barnard VanFossen, Marvin in Hartman, Cecil Eveland, Russell Jones, Roger Valentine, Ethel Creager and Ralph Van Fossen.

Ohio Chamber Says Industry Still Strong

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Chamber of Commerce said today that while California has moved past Ohio into the second spot in manufacturing, Ohio still maintains a strong spot among the nation's first 10 industrial states.

Figures announced by the U.S. Department of Commerce on value added by manufacturing put California in second place behind New York and just in front of Ohio—by a slight margin of $15.6 million out of a national value-added total of more than $163 billion, said Hugh H. Young, president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

"Placing of one or two defense contracts in Ohio could have made the difference and kept our state in second place," Young said. He also said it was significant that the only two other states to show a decrease are situated in the Midwest—Illinois and Indiana.

Young's statement also pointed out that the general growth pattern for all states in 1960 was very slow in comparison to previous years. Said Young:

"The margin between the five states of California, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Michigan is rather slight, involving a range of only $3 billion in value added by manufacturer. Fluctuations by only a fraction of a per cent can mean the difference between second, third, fourth or fifth place. For several years this has been the rule rather than the exception, especially in rankings between Ohio, Pennsylvania and Illinois."

Newark, N.J., Columbus Day parade Friday morning.

New York City, Columbus Day parade Friday afternoon.

Pittsburgh, Democratic rally Friday night.

Tour of as yet unnamed spots in Western Pennsylvania Saturday morning.

And more schedules are being lined up—his politicking will keep him on the road every weekend in advance of the Nov. 6 election. Included in the planning is another visit to Ohio before the election, possibly an appearance in Cleveland.

Berlin Newspapers Demand West Act

BERLIN (AP)—West Berlin newspapers Monday demanded Western action, instead of another addition to a pile of paper protests, to counter the latest Communist challenge to Western freedom of movement in Berlin.

Two newspapers suggested that the Western powers bar Soviets from West Berlin in retaliation for the refusal of East German border guards to let a British ambulance enter East Berlin.

The ambulance was barred Saturday when it attempted to go to the medical aid of a West Berliner who was shot at a tunnel entrance on the East side of the wall. He was helping refugees escape. It is not known whether he died of his wounds.

Naturalists Ralph and Florence Welles believe that the celebrated butting matches of bighorn rams are probably rituals, not serious fights for possession of mates. The bouts apparently fulfill some deep urge in the mating season but do not directly concern the ewes.

New Members Accepted by Fellowship

The Westminster Fellowship met recently at the United Presbyterian Church where new members were informally initiated into the group.

Members assembled in the church sanctuary for the candle-light service which was conducted by Marilyn Sprenger, faith chairman.

The reception for new members was held in the social room. Cake and punch were served by Lynn Reichelderfer and Susan Reichelderfer.

Other members present were Barbara Jones, Sharon Hart, George Grigg, Richard, Irish, Steve Spicer, David Hill, Ellen Young, Hester Weldon Nancy Yates, Bruce Lindsay, Becky Walters, Donna Meyers, Pete DeNeef, Larry Eccard, Doyle Painter and Louise Adkins.

Advisors are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Luna and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dowler.

Edward Everett Horton Happy with His Old 'Monstrosity'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"This is the last of the old monstrosities," said Edward Everett Horton with his familiar grin.

He was talking about his Encino mansion, which is not really as he affectionately describes it. The place has great charm.

Horton was pink-cheeked and jaunty as ever, and not particularly upset about the loss of the beach house in a fire.

"I hadn't lived in it for years," he explained. "I bought it from Mrs. Oliver Morosco, widow of the producer; before that, it belonged to Mae Murray and other silent film stars."

The comedian took a seat on the wide plush couch in his banquet hall and sipped a glass of milk as he talked about the Encino house. It has an immense room—40 by 34 feet with a 16-foot ceiling—like something out of an English castle.

"We've had some great parties in this room," he recalled. "The first one came after I finished a picture with Lily Pons called 'Hitting a New High.' There was a banquet table the length of the room and an eight-piece orchestra up on the balcony."

Horton started building the house in 1925, when the valley was little more than cow pastures and walnut groves. His mother and brother, a researcher in chicken diseases, found a knoll where he could continue his research. Each brother bought two acres.

They started with a small house atop the knoll, with a garage on the lower floor. When they discovered how cool the garage remained, they converted it into living quarters. As the years went by and the comedian's career prospered, rooms were added—a 28 x 34 music room, a formal dining room, and so on.

That Problem Solved

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Troubled by persons walking on the lawn in front of the state adjutant general's office, a clever Army man solved the problem. He stuck a sign in the ground that said "Mines, Danger."

New Circuit Installed for Tarlton Unit

Tarlton telephone users may occasionally hear a "beep-beep" tone overriding their telephone conversations, according to local General Telephone Co. officials.

Donald F. Colegrove, General's district commercial manager, says the tone is associated with a special fire-alarm conference circuit recently installed for the Salt-creek - Tarlton Volunteer Fire Department.

The tone serves as a warning that an emergency call is waiting to be answered by a fire reporting station on one of the lines.

Colegrove urged Tarlton telephone users who hear such a signal while talking to hang up immediately. To continue talking could keep an emergency call from reaching a fireman, he added.

A fire reporting number has also been assigned to the fire department, Colegrove said. The number is GR 4-7474.

Emergency calls placed to the fire reporting number are automatically routed to each of eight reporting stations. A continuous ring at an answering location distinguishes an emergency call from an ordinary call.

Once answered a conference circuit is established permitting eight different firemen to receive the emergency information. The caller is free to return to the scene after passing the information to the first person answering the call.

Individuals having reporting stations include fire chief Nelson E. Jones, Barnard VanFossen, Marvin Hartman, Cecil Eveland, Russell Jones, Roger Valentine, Ethel Creager and Ralph Van Fossen.

Ohio Chamber Says Industry Still Strong

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Chamber of Commerce said today that while California has moved past Ohio into the second spot in manufacturing, Ohio still maintains a strong spot among the nation's first 10 industrial states.

Figures announced by the U.S. Department of Commerce on value added by manufacturing put California in second place behind New York and just in front of Ohio—by a slight margin of $15.6 million out of a national value-added total of more than $163 billion, said Hugh H. Young, president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

"Placing of one or two defense contracts in Ohio could have made the difference and kept our state in second place," Young said. He also said it was significant that the only two other states to show a decrease are situated in the Midwest—Illinois and Indiana.

Young's statement also pointed out that the general growth pattern for all states in 1960 was very slow in comparison to previous years, said Young.

"The margin between the five states of California, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Michigan is rather slight, involving a range of only $3 billion in value added by manufacturer. Fluctuations by only a fraction of a per cent can mean the difference between second, third, fourth or fifth place. For several years this has been the rule rather than the exception, especially in rankings between Ohio, Pennsylvania and Illinois."

JFK Schedules Politicking In 5 States

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy takes off Wednesday on a campaign swing through five states carrying on his drive to send more Democrats to Congress.

He will wind up the weekend with a Pulaski Day appearance in Buffalo, N.Y., after these other dates:

Baltimore, Wednesday night speech to be carried by state television and radio networks at 9 p.m. EDT.

Newark, N.J., Columbus Day parade Friday morning.

New York City, Columbus Day parade Friday afternoon.

Pittsburgh, Democratic rally Friday night.

Tour of as yet unnamed spots in Western Pennsylvania Saturday morning.

Indianapolis rally Saturday afternoon.

Louisville Democratic celebration Saturday evening.

And more schedules are being lined up—his politicking will keep him on the road every weekend in advance of the Nov. 6 election. Included in the planning is another visit to Ohio before the election, possibly an appearance in Cleveland.

Boy, 16, Admits Smothering Woman

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Friends insisted that Miss Honore Thompson—found dead in her gas-filled apartment—was not one who would commit suicide.

And today police said that 16-year-old Donald Taylor, who left junior high school this year to work in a service station next to Miss Thompson's apartment building, has admitted smothering her.

Miss Thompson, 47, was a dance instructor at the Springfield YWCA. When she failed to appear at a dinner party Oct. 1, a woman friend with a key to her apartment entered and found her body.

Cremation Scheduled For Body of Red Spy

LONDON (AP)—The Home Office said Monday the body of Soviet spy Robert Soblen will be cremated Thursday in suburban Ruislip.

Dr. Soblen, 62, was being taken in an ambulance to a New York-bound airliner in September when he swallowed a massive dose of sleeping pills. He died Sept. 11 of a brain hemorrhage at a hospital. As a convicted spy in America he faced a life prison sentence.

Conference Delegates Listed

The regular session of the Monday Club was conducted in the Trustees room of the Memorial Hall Monday evening, with Mrs. George C. Barnes presiding over the business meeting.

Mrs. Ray Davis and Mrs. David Fullen are delegates to the Fall Conference of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held Thursday in the Nationwide Inn, Columbus.

Mrs. Lawrence J. Johnson, speaker for the evening, presented an interesting and informative discussion on "Elementary Education in 1962."

She began with the teaching of reading and stated that the poor readers in this generation are not to be blamed entirely on the schools as the home plays an important part in making a child a good reader or a poor reader because of sheer entertainment children no longer need to turn to books.

Mrs. Johnson presented the new basic readers from the "Curriculum Foundation Series" by Robinson, Monroe and Artley. These revised readers are being used in the Circleville schools for the first time this fall. She gave a demonstration lesson using the "Big Book", chart, flash cards and materials used in presenting a lesson. She added that speed reading can be used to advantage in many situations.

She then stressed improving the science program and added that the understanding of the true nature of science is urgent at every level of the curriculum.

Mathematics was her next topic of discussion and she stated that the changes now taking place in mathematics are so extensive, so far-reaching in their implication and so profound that they can be described only as a revolution.

In conclusion Mrs. Johnson spoke on educational television and noted that television is an instrument for teaching and learning at all levels, elementary, secondary, higher and adult.

Mrs. Ben Walker presented her report and dues were collected. Books were distributed by Mrs. Cecil Ward, program chairman.

Mystery sisters were disclosed and the special project was won by Mrs. Jennie Russell.

Pickaway County Council of Garden Clubs will hold their fall meeting December 5 in the Ashville EUB Church. The Ashville Garden Club and the Soliqua Garden Club will be hostesses.

Mrs. John Starr, London, O., will be guest speaker using the topic, "Christmas With the Stars". She will demonstrate Christmas arrangements. All clubs affiliated with the Pickaway County Council will participate. Each club is asked to furnish six dozen cookies and one door prize not to exceed $2.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Trump gave a detailed description of her recent tour of several European Countries. She and her son, Robert, visited Germany, France, Switzerland, Scotland, England and Austria and brought back many beautiful objects and pictures. She described the conditions of the countries and added that she enjoyed Switzerland the most.

Miss Gladys Vause was welcomed as a new member and Mrs. William Walker, Route 3, was a guest.

The November meeting will be in the home of Mr. Boyd Hines with Mrs. Frank Grice as assistant hostess.

Personals
Mrs. Carl Dudleson and daughter Melanie, Route 1, Williamsport, were recent guests at a shower given in honor of Mrs. J. T. Wiland, the former Marilyn Dudleson, of 5040 Meadowbrook Drive, Columbus. Walnut Hills WSCS and Young Married Class gave the event in the parish house.

The Rev. and Mrs. Ewing Ross and Mr. Okie Boyer, Route 4, visited during the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Leora Boyer, South Gate, Mich., where Mr. Boyer is recuperating from a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Woods and Mrs. H. A. Morris, Circleville, attended a carry-in dinner last night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woods, Washington C. H.

Child Study Club Schedules Meeting
The Child Study Club will meet 8 p. m. Monday in the home of Mrs. Joseph Brooks, Monticello Ave., Jefferson Addition.

Martha Russell will be co-hostess.

Unique Theme Brings Many Show Requests

The Flower Show at the Pumpkin Show will be held at the Hill Implement Co., 123 E. Franklin St. Mrs. G. Guy Campbell, director of the flower show, has had many requests for the schedule due to the unique theme, "Honoring Our Capitol City's Sesquicentennial 1812-1962."

Mr. David B. Metzger, Marion, O., stopped for a schedule and noted that a bus had been chartered for the flower show members in that area.

Mr. Harry O'Brien, whose articles appear in many magazines and newspapers, sent a card saying he was pleased about the class honoring him and Mr. Edward Thomas, naturalist, was happy to be featured in one of the classes.

Conference Delegates Listed

The regular session of the Monday Club was conducted in the Trustees room of the Memorial Hall Monday evening, with Mrs. George C. Barnes presiding over the business meeting.

Mrs. Ray Davis and Mrs. David Fullen are delegates to the Fall Conference of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held Thursday in the Nationwide Inn, Columbus.

Mrs. Lawrence J. Johnson, speaker for the evening, presented an interesting and informative discussion on "Elementary Education in 1962."

She began with the teaching of reading and stated that the poor readers in this generation are not to be blamed entirely on the schools as the home plays an important part in making a child a good reader or a poor reader because for sheer entertainment children no longer need to turn to books.

Mrs. Johnson presented the new basic readers from the "Curriculum Foundation Series" by Robinson, Monroe and Artley. These revised readers are being used in the Circleville schools for the first time this fall. She gave a demonstration lesson using the "Big Book", chart, flash cards and materials used in presenting a lesson. She added that speed reading can be used to advantage in many situations.

She then stressed improving the science program and added that the understanding of the true nature of science is urgent at every level of the curriculum.

Mathematics was her next topic of discussion and she stated that the changes now taking place in mathematics are so extensive, so far-reaching in their implication and so profound that they can be described only as a revolution.

In conclusion Mrs. Johnson spoke on educational television and noted that television is an instrument for teaching and learning at all levels, elementary, secondary, higher and adult.

Alliance Clings To No. 1 Rating

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Alliance's Aviators clung to the top spot in the weekly Associated Press high school football poll today—but the defending champions of Niles McKinley jumped into contention by leaping from fourth to second.

And if the ratings stay approximately as they are, the state title could be decided Nov. 9 when the Aviators and Red Dragons tangle on the Stark County gridiron.

In spite of an impressive 52-0 win over Washington C. H. Friday, the Circleville Tigers dropped from 11th to 12th in the weekly Associated Press grid poll.

The local gridders received three first place votes and a total of 57 points, 12 points out of the top ten.

Hillsboro received 26 points in the ratings, Miami Trace garnered 14 and Wilmington 4.

Teays Valley received six points in the voting. It is the second time the new Pickaway County high school has appeared in the rating.

Niles, riding a 33-game streak without defeat, is idle this week while Alliance entertains Cleveland East.

The 1961 kings moved around both Fremont Ross and Middletown in fighting their way into the runner-up spot with an 8-0 verdict over previously unbeaten Steubenville Central Catholic. Alliance wrecked Akron Hower 58-0.

Fremont skidded from second to third despite a 16-8 win over Elyria, while Middletown was dumped 14-12 by Springfield South. The victory boosted the Wildcats from among the also-rans into ninth place in the ratings, and the loss sent the Mid-dies down to 11th place.

Lorain Admiral King, eighth last week, soared to a fifth-place tie behind Warren with a 38-0 verdict over Findlay. Warren handled Akron South 30-12 in moving up a notch.

Marietta, although a convincing 30-6 victor over a snappy unbeaten Salem team, dropped from 9th to 13th place as 48 sports editors voted in the poll. But Steubenville's Big Red nosed out thrice-beaten Massillon 14-8 to jump from 10th to a tie for 5th.

Cincinnati Roger Bacon, seventh a week ago, slipped to eighth after a 6-0 win over Purcell, and Sandusky also fell one rung to seventh although it defeated Lorain 30-16. Toledo Central's unbeaten team took over the 10th position.

Massillon, seven-time poll winner, received only three last-place votes from the 48 sports scribes, probably the lowest the Tigers have ever rated.

Ray Hoyman, the Steubenville coach, and Mel Knowlton, the Alliance mentor, were teammates at Massillon back in 1931 when Steubenville beat the Tigers 68-0.

—the last time the Stubbers were victorious. This year both Knowlton and Hoyman have beaten their old school.

The young Tigers are plagued with injuries — the entire first string backfield being sidelined. Ron Swartz, the No. 2 signal-caller, handled the team against Steubenville, although the loud-speaker called Al Kanner, a sophomore, from the stands to back him up.

Mount Vernon, which lost 10 in a row last year, is unbeaten this season. Two freshman starters are on the club, which has only five lettermen.

Garold Dade of Circleville intercepted a pass in the end zone and raced 105 yards to score as the roundtown team whipped Washington Court House 52-0. Circleville, with a 5-0 record, is 191-22 in scoring.

Teams (12)	Poll Pts	Scoring

Practically all new homes are heated with Gas—and here's why. A forced air Gas system circulates the air evenly—through every room in your house, including the basement. And a single, centrally located thermostat keeps the temperature uniform throughout. Your children can play in comfort on the floor in any room—even on coldest days. Your rooms never have a stale, stuffy, stagnant atmosphere, because the warm, filter-cleaned, freshened air is constantly "on the move" throughout your house.

If your home is heated with modern, automatic Gas equipment, you have the best heating system you can buy! And, when you buy or build a new home, make sure it has modern Gas heat.

What's more, it's easy to convert your forced air Gas heating system to summer comfort cooling—just add on a Gas Air Conditioning unit to your present Gas heating system. Enjoy year-round, "whole-house comfort" with GAS!

Alliance Clings To No. 1 Rating

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Alliance's Aviators clung to the top spot in the weekly Associated Press high school football poll today—but the defending champions of Niles McKinley jumped into contention by leaping from fourth to second.

And if the ratings stay approximately as they are, the state title could be decided Nov. 9 when the Aviators and Red Dragons tangle on the Stark County gridiron.

In spite of an impressive 52-0 win over Washington C. H. Friday, the Circleville Tigers dropped from 11th to 12th in the weekly Associated Press grid poll.

The local gridders received three first place votes and a total of 57 points, 12 points out of the top ten.

Hillsboro received 26 points in the ratings, Miami Trace garnered 14 and Wilmington 4. Teays Valley received six points in the voting. It is the second time the new Pickaway County high school has appeared in the ratings.

Niles, riding a 33-game streak without defeat, is idle this week while Alliance entertains Cleveland East.

The 1961 kings moved around both Fremont Ross and Middletown in fighting their way into the runner-up spot with an 8-0 verdict over previously unbeaten Steubenville Central Catholic. Alliance wrecked Akron Hower 58-0.

Fremont skidded from second to third despite a 16-8 win over Elyria, while Middletown was dumped 14-12 by Springfield South. The victory boosted the Wildcats from among the also-rans into ninth place in the ratings, and the loss sent the Middies down to 11th place.

Lorain Admiral King, eighth last week, soared to a fifth-place tie behind Warren with a 38-0 verdict over Findlay. Warren handled Akron South 30-12 in moving up a notch.

Marietta, although a convincing 30-6 victor over a snappy unbeaten Salem team, dropped from 9th to 13th place as 48 sports editors voted in the poll. But Steubenville's Big Red nosed out three-beaten Massillon 14-8 to jump from 10th to a tie for 5th.

Cincinnati Roger Bacon, seventh a week ago, slipped to eighth after a 6-0 win over Purcell, and Sandusky also fell one rung to seventh although it defeated Lorain 30-16. Toledo Central's unbeaten team took over the 10th position.

Massillon, seven-time poll winner, received only three last-place votes from the 48 sports scribes, probably the lowest the Tigers have ever rated.

Ray Hoyman, the Steubenville coach, and Mel Knowlton, the Alliance mentor, were teammates at Massillon back in 1931 when Steubenville beat the Tigers 68-0.

—the last time the Stubbers were victorious. This year both Knowlton and Hoyman have beaten their old school.

The young Tigers are plagued with injuries — the entire first string backfield being sidelined. Ron Swartz, the No. 2 signal-caller, handled the team against Steubenville, although the loud-speaker called Al Kanner, a sophomore, from the stands to back him up.

Mount Vernon, which lost 10 in a row last year, is unbeaten this season. Two freshman starters are on the club, which has only five lettermen.

Garold Dade of Circleville intercepted a pass in the end zone and raced 105 yards to score as the roundtown team whipped Washington Court House 52-0. Circleville, with a 5-0 record, is 191-22 in scoring.

Amateurs Vie In World Test

KAWANA, Japan (AP) —The third World Amateur Golf Tournament opens at Kawana's scenic Fuji course Wednesday with the golfers with the hot putters expected to carry home the coveted Eisenhower Cup.

Four-man teams from 23 countries will play 72 holes in the four days of competition on the 6,162-yard layout in full view of cone-shaped Mt. Fuji.

After several days of practice rounds on the par 70 course, the consensus of the players and their managers was that the victorious team will be the one that masters the fast greens on the open and hilly course.

The American team of U.S. Amateur champion Labron Harris Jr., Billy Joe Patton, Deane Beman and Dick Sikes is favored to retain the cup won in 1960 at the Merion course near Philadelphia.

Rival Managers Expect Series To Go 7 Games

But Houk, Dark Disagree on Winner Of Deciding Contest

NEW YORK (AP) — Managers Ralph Houk of New York and Alvin Dark of San Francisco agreed today that the World Series, now all even at two victories apiece, would go the limit of seven games.

Of course, the rival skippers disagreed on the winner.

Although the Giants pulled even Monday with a 7-3 victory in the fourth game, in which the brilliant Whitey Ford was lifted after six innings, Houk said he wasn't worried. He said he planned no changes in the lineup and confirmed that Ralph Terry, his 23-game winning right-hander, would be the pitcher.

Dark's choice was Jack Sanford, the 24-game winning right-hander who defeated Terry 2-0 with a three-hitter in the second game of the series.

"I'm not worried about the way our boys are hitting," said Houk, whose team was held to nine hits by four Giant pitchers Monday and has hit only one home run in four games. "We're hitting the ball, all right, but not to the right places."

Dark was just as optimistic. He pointed out he had predicted as far back as three weeks ago that a Giant-Yankee World Series would go the limit. At the time the Giants were four games behind Los Angeles with only nine games left to play.

"I told one of my players (Jose Pagan) that we had 19 more games to play," Dark said, "nine in the regular schedule, three in the playoffs and seven in the World Series. Naturally, I still feel that way and I think we'll win."

Dark had planned to pitch Billy O'Dell, who lost the opener to the Yankees, but the southpaw was needed in relief Monday after the Giants took a 6-2 lead in the seventh on Chuck Hiller's grand slam homer off relief pitcher Marshall Bridges.

Jim Coates, a right-hander, began the inning after Ford was taken out for a pinch hitter in the bottom of the sixth as Houk tried for a big inning. Coates gave way to Bridges after giving up a walk to Jim Davenport and a one-out double to pinch hitter Matty Alou.

The left-handed Bridges purposely passed pinch hitter Bob Nieman to load the bases, disposed of Harvey Kuenn on an infield popup, then threw the grand slammer to Hiller, the first of the Giant second baseman's professional career. The chunky infielder had hit only three home runs all season.

"I plan to start Sanford today, Billy Pierce in the sixth game on Thursday and come right back with Sanford in the seventh game on Friday," said Dark.

If the series goes the limit, in accord with the managers' predictions, the seventh game pitchers will be Sanford against Ford, each making his third start. Bill Stafford, who went all the way beating the Giants in the third game, will pitch the sixth game for the Yanks.

The odds still favored the Yankees, both for today's game and the series. They were rated 7-5 to win today and 8-5 to take the series. The weather prediction was "fair with temperatures in the 70's."

Views on Television - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP Television-Radio Writer
 NEW YORK (AP)—Jeff Baker was killed in an automobile accident the last week in August.

It came as a great shock to viewers of CBS' daytime "As the World Turns," who for six years had been following the ups and downs in Jeff's relationship with Penny, his wife. Repercussions are still being heard.

Jeff's demise, in soap opera terms, was sudden. The "accident" occurred on a Monday and by Wednesday he was gone. What made it even more upsetting was that after a long, complicated marital tangle, Jeff and Penny seemed to be getting along pretty well.

Daytime serials don't kill off leading characters very often. Usually the authors merely write them out of scripts by sending them to distant places for a spell so that if they choose a character may be brought back, usually with a different fate.

When a regular is killed in the script, all sorts of violent reactions come from the faithful viewers—including unescapably, a notion that the actor who played the character also shuffled off the mortal coil.

Mark Rydell, who played Jeff

for all those years, is very much alive. Currently he is trying to work out a directing and acting deal with a major talent agency.

His television "death" came after the actor and the advertising agency which produces the serial were unable to get together on a new contract.

Just how much reaction Jeff's death occasioned is a moot question. A CBS spokesman said the network had received about 20 letters, which were answered by a form letter explaining the show's dramatic necessities and mentioning the actor's future plans.

Recommended tonight: "Run 'til It's Dark," NBC, 9:30-10:30 (EDT)—Tuesday Weld and Fabian in a drama on "The Dick Powell Show," Fabian's first acting appearance since the highly publicized episode of last season's "Bus Stop"; "Garry Moore Show," CBS, 10-11—Bob Newhart and Dennis ("Gunsmoke") Weaver are guest stars.

Chicago and Dallas were the only National Football League teams that failed to win an exhibition game this summer. Both lost all five games.

Amateurs Vie In World Test

KAWANA, Japan (AP) —The third World Amateur Golf Tournament opens at Kawana's scenic Fuji course Wednesday with the golfers with the hot putters expected to carry home the coveted Eisenhower Cup.

Four-man teams from 23 countries will play 72 holes in the four days of competition on the 6,162-yard layout in full view of cone-shaped Mt. Fuji.

After several days of practice rounds on the par 70 course, the consensus of the players and their managers was that the victorious team will be the one that masters the fast greens on the open and hilly course.

The American team of U.S. Amateur champion Labron Harris Jr., Billy Joe Patton, Deane Beman and Dick Sikes is favored to retain the cup won in 1960 at the Merion course near Philadelphia.

Rival Managers Expect Series To Go 7 Games

But Houk, Dark Disagree on Winner Of Deciding Contest

NEW YORK (AP) — Managers Ralph Houk of New York and Alvin Dark of San Francisco agreed today that the World Series, now all even at two victories apiece, would go the limit of seven games.

Of course, the rival skippers disagreed on the winner.

Although the Giants pulled even Monday with a 7-3 victory in the fourth game, in which the brilliant Whitey Ford was lifted after six innings, Houk said he wasn't worried. He said he planned no changes in the lineup and confirmed that Ralph Terry, his 23-game winning right-hander, would be the pitcher.

Dark's choice was Jack Sanford, the 24-game winning right-hander who defeated Terry 2-0 with a three-hitter in the second game of the series.

"I'm not worried about the way our boys are hitting," said Houk, whose team was held to nine hits by four Giant pitchers Monday and has hit only one home run in four games. "We're hitting the ball, all right, but not to the right places."

Dark was just as optimistic. He pointed out he had predicted as far back as three weeks ago that a Giant-Yankee World Series would go the limit. At the time the Giants were four games behind Los Angeles with only nine games left to play.

"I told one of my players (Jose Pagan) that we had 19 more games to play," Dark said, "nine in the regular schedule, three in the playoffs and seven in the World Series. Naturally, I still feel that way and I think we'll win."

Dark had planned to pitch Billy O'Dell, who lost the opener to the Yankees, but the southpaw was needed in relief Monday after the Giants took a 6-2 lead in the seventh on Chuck Hiller's grand slam homer off relief pitcher Marshall Bridges.

Jim Coates, a right-hander, began the inning after Ford was taken out for a pinch hitter in the bottom of the sixth as Houk tried for a big inning. Coates gave way to Bridges after giving up a walk to Jim Davenport and a one-out double to pinch hitter Matty Alou.

The left-handed Bridges purposely passed pinch hitter Bob Nieman to load the bases, disposed of Harvey Kuenn on an infield popout, then threw the grand slammer to Hiller, the first of the Giant second baseman's professional career. The chunky infielder had hit only three home runs all season.

"I plan to start Sanford today, Billy Pierce in the sixth game on Thursday and come right back with Sanford in the seventh game on Friday," said Dark.

If the series goes the limit, in accord with the managers' predictions, the seventh game pitchers will be Sanford against Ford, each making his third start. Bill Stafford, who went all the way beating the Giants in the third game, will pitch the sixth game for the Yanks.

The odds still favored the Yankees, both for today's game and the series. They were rated 7-5 to win today and 8-5 to take the series. The weather prediction was "fair with temperatures in the 70's."

NEW YORK (AP)—Jeff Baker was killed in an automobile accident the last week in August.

It came as a great shock to viewers of CBS' daytime "As the World Turns," who for six years had been following the ups and downs in Jeff's relationship with Penny, his wife. Repercussions are still being heard.

Jeff's demise, in soap opera terms, was sudden. The "accident" occurred on a Monday and by Wednesday he was gone. What made it even more upsetting was that after a long, complicated marital tangle, Jeff and Penny seemed to be getting along pretty well.

Daytime serials don't kill off leading characters very often. Usually the authors merely write them out of scrips by sending them to distant places for a spell so that if they choose, a character may be brought back, usually with a different face.

When a regular is killed in the script, all sorts of violent reactions come from the faithful viewers—including unescapably, a notion that the actor who played the character also shuffled off the mortal coil.

Mark Rydell, who played Jeff

for all those years, is very much alive. Currently he is trying to work out a directing and acting deal with a major talent agency.

His television "death" came after the actor and the advertising agency which produces the serial were unable to get together on a new contract.

Just how much reaction Jeff's death occasioned is a moot question. A CBS spokesman said the network had received about 20 letters, which were answered by a form letter explaining the show's dramatic necessities and mentioning the actor's future plans.

Recommended tonight: "Run 'til It's Dark," NBC, 9:30-10:30 (EDT)—Tuesday Weld and Fabian in a drama on "The Dick Powell Show." Fabian's first acting appearance since the highly publicized episode of last season's "Bus Stop"; "Garry Moore Show," CBS, 10-11—Bob Newhart and Dennis ("Gunsmoke") Weaver are guest stars.

Chicago and Dallas were the only National Football League teams that failed to win an exhibition game this summer. Both lost all five games.

Legion Set For Red-Hot Politicking

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The 44th Annual American Legion Convention settled down to some old-fashioned backroom politicking today in its closest national commander election in 14 years.

The parades and hi-jinks—Legionnaires twisting with chorus girls, impromptu brass band concerts beneath glittering gambling hotel marquees—were largely forgotten.

Two Southerners are scrapping for the top office—James Powers of Macon, Ga., and Joseph Matthews of Fort Worth, Tex.

Powers has been actively seeking the job for the past two or three years and preparing himself for the big run this year. He is the candidate of the informal but powerful selection committee within the Legion.

Not since 1948 has this committee's choice been seriously challenged, Matthews is doing it.

He, too, has been after the commander spot for more than a year, traveling the country widely.

Informed sources say he'll take large blocks of votes in Pennsylvania, Kansas, Texas and California. But in the final analysis, say the same sources, Powers will win by a 2-1 majority in the voting Thursday of the 3,015 delegates.

More Federal Aid Hinted for Areas in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says President Kennedy has indicated additional federal aid may be on the way for hardpressed Ohio areas.

The governor made public a letter from the President Monday. It said Kennedy was asking federal agencies to see how many counties could be helped in addition to the score in Southeastern Ohio recently declared depressed areas.

Earlier DiSalle had told the President that help was needed beyond area redevelopment and public works acceleration programs, mainly in counties that were formerly centers for mining and glass and pottery making.

Kennedy, in his letter, said: "We share your concern for these regions and their people and you can be sure that the responsible federal officials will give full and sympathetic consideration to Ohio's proposals as they are advanced."

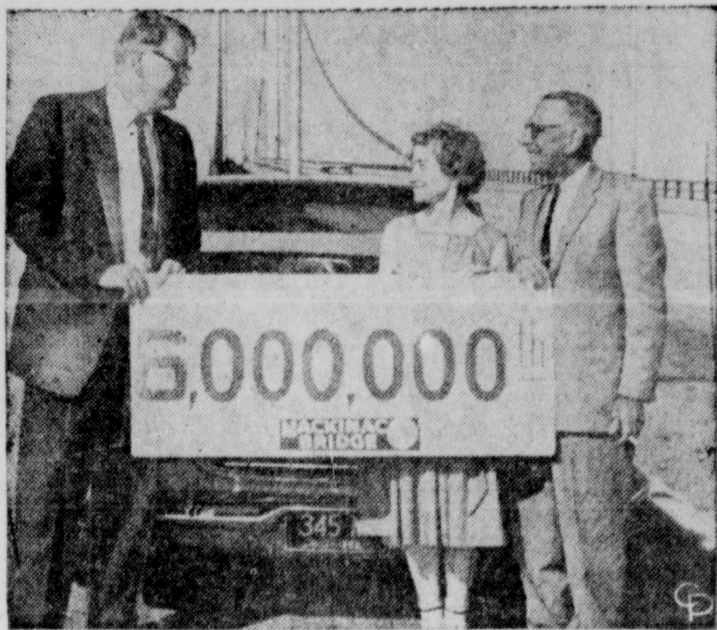

DiSalle suggested more roads, recreational development and water and sewer projects to aid the areas.

6 MILLION IN FIVE YEARS—Drivers of the six millionth vehicle to cross the Mackinac Bridge since its opening Nov. 1, 1937, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Woodruff (right) of Toledo, O., are greeted in St. Ignace, Mich., by C. E. Haltenhoff, general manager of the bridge.

Feed Grain, Wheat Diverted Acreage Opened to Livestock

Beginning Nov. 1, most of the acreage diverted under the 1962 feed grain and wheat programs will be released from program restrictions on grazing. Galen D. Mowery, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee has announced.

The authorization does not extend to (1) diverted acreage which is devoted to wildlife food plots, (2) diverted acreage on which grain or oil-seed crops have matured in 1962, and (3) diverted acreage credited under the double-cropping provisions of the programs.

The chairman explained that the grazing restrictions were being relaxed as part of the general effort to keep provisions of farm programs in line with practical farming operations. Many farmers normally salvage dropped corn ears and other crop residue by turning livestock onto harvested cropland in the late fall.

Since the diverted acreage on many farms is not fenced separately, the program change will permit these farmers to salvage this feed without being put to unreasonable work time and expense for protective feeding, the chairman said.

According to Mowery, the main objective of the ban against livestock on diverted acres has been to prevent grazing that might partially offset the corn, grain sorghum and wheat adjustment under the diversion programs. With killing frosts likely by Nov. 1 over the main grain-producing area, the objective of the no-grazing ban would be satisfactorily met by that time.

Chutist Fails In Rescue of Falling Girl

BANNING, Calif. (AP)—An ex-Army paratrooper made a futile attempt to rescue a San Gabriel woman whose parachute failed to open on her first try at sky-diving.

Dianne Elaine Tange, 20, fell to her death Sunday. She had been training all day for the jump with James Francel, 26, a San Gabriel fireman and former paratrooper, whom she'd met a few days before.

"She didn't seem afraid," said Francel's roommate, Phil Hetzler. Francel was too grief-stricken to comment.

The girl jumped at 2,600 feet. Her parachute streamed out behind her, but failed to open.

Francel could not see the girl jump, Hetzler said. But when someone shouted that her chute didn't open, he dived after her, hoping somehow he could catch her or get close enough to shout instructions to her.

"He free fell much further than was safe," Hetzler said. "He hit the ground just a few moments after she did."

"Dianne had an emergency chute, but she didn't pull the cord," Hetzler said.

Rhodes Says DiSalle Too Sensitive

CLEVELAND (AP) — State Auditor James A. Rhodes, Republican candidate for governor, has rebuked the Democratic administration of his opponent, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, for being what he called too temperamental.

DiSalle's administration has not been able to get along with many judges, prosecutors and legislators or even with its own members, Rhodes said here Monday night. The candidate spoke at a meeting of Republicans from Wards 2 and 3.

Earlier in the day he and Mrs. Rhodes were guests of the party's Cuyahoga County women's division at a reception.

Rhodes said he personally has demonstrated "willingness of reasonable men to sit down and work out problems facing Ohio by simply sitting down with our legislative leaders and working our problems to meet Ohio needs."

Rhodes continued to champion his proposals for an authority to expand Ohio's industry, a commission to cope with juvenile delinquency and efforts to take non-psychotic elderly persons from hospitals. He reiterated his plans for development of educational facilities and development and conservation of the state's natural resources.

iod for protection of the diverted acreages also will have passed in most areas, and there is small likelihood that conservation cover would be severely damaged by permitting livestock on this acreage on or after Nov. 1.

In the event of a statewide killing frost, the chairman declared, approval may be obtained for an earlier date for relaxation of the no-grazing ban.

Extradition To Ohio Goes To High Court

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A battle by a Wilkesburg man against extradition to Ohio to face charges in a Niles, Ohio, robbery has reached the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

Attorney Albert Fiok, representing Louis Raucci, 36, claimed Monday Judge William McNaugher of Allegheny County refused to hear evidence which Fiok said would have refuted the testimony of two witnesses who identified Raucci as the holdup man.

Raucci is accused of abducting a woman messenger and a policeman and robbing them of $41,000 from the McKinley Savings & Loan Association of Niles.

William C. Smith, an assistant district attorney of Allegheny County, contended Judge McNaugher correctly limited the testimony and said identification of Raucci was complete.

The court will rule later.

STOP FUMING

GO FLAMELESS

White fabrics come out whiter, colors come out brighter when you dry your clothes the flameless way. An electric dryer dries with pure radiant heat — just like sunshine. No burning fuel, no fumes, no yellowing or fading of delicate fabrics. You'll love every flameless feature of the new electric dryers.
